DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election of Group I, claims 1-10, in the reply filed on February 1, 2005, is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).
2. Claims 11-20 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on February 1, 2005.
3. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
4. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The present abstract should be amended to remove the phrase "the present invention discloses".

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wheable (4,592,665) in view of Jones (3,444,399).

Wheable discloses a device including a resistor (14,16,18,20), a heater (42) disposed proximate the resistor (14, 16, 18, 20), a tuner (44, 46) electrically coupled to the resistor (14,16,18,20), a heater driver circuit (col.4, lines 26-39) coupled to the heater (42) and the tuner (44, 46), wherein the heater (42) heats the resistor (14,16,18,20) to adjust the resistance of the resistor (14,16,18,20) in response to the tuner (44, 46). With respect to claim 10, Wheable discloses the device being a semiconductor chip. See col. 3, lines 29-30.

Wheable does not state that a dielectric is disposed between the heater and the resistor or around the resistor, heater, and tuner. However, Kimura teaches providing dielectric layers between and around heaters and resistors. See Fig. 14 and col. 7, lines 30-33.

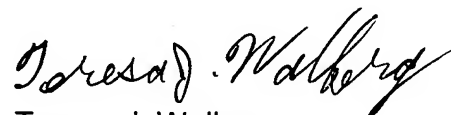

It would have been obvious in view of Kimura to provide dielectric layers between the heater and the resistor and around the resistor, heater, and tuner in the device of Wheable to prevent undesired short circuits between the elements of the device.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Fisher, Hasegawa et al, Ahlport, Frerking, Weber et al, Hada et al, Kuntz, and Japan document 61-237050 are cited to show heating of circuit elements.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Teresa J. Walberg whose telephone number is 571-272-4790. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 9:00 - 5:30.
